

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and system for cooling at least one laser diode with a cooling fluid which does not come into direct contact with the at least one laser diode is presented. Liquid cooled heat sinks are provided on opposing sides of each

5      laser diode. Individual modules are held together by a single holding mechanism allowing individual modules to be removed from the array for easy testing or replacement.

001401-0230828760